HELPING THE BODY DETOX

The best thing we can do for our overall health is take care of the gut. The human gut microbiome is teeming with all sorts of organisms—some are meant to do good things for the body, and others are meant to do harm. Feeding the good stuff, then, is vitally important. But just as important is helping the body naturally and safely get rid of the bad stuff. And that's exactly why LoveBiome created Next Detox.

HOW IT WORKS

Next Detox was created with three distinct and unique superfood blends: An exotic superfood formula, an ancient detox blend, and an adaptogenic relaxation complex. These blends work together to flood the body with antioxidants to help safely remove harmful toxins and prevent further oxidative stress in the body.

Antioxidants are compounds that neutralize harmful molecules known as free radicals, which can damage cells and contribute to various diseases. Some of the harmful bacteria in the gut can produce these free radicals which can lead to inflammation and other problems in the gut.

Antioxidants, like those found in noni, turmeric, cranberry, artichoke, purple carrot and other Next Detox ingredients, can help detoxify the gut microbiome by scavenging free radicals and preventing them from causing damage.

Additionally, Next Detox's proprietary relaxation blend, which includes gamma aminobutyric acid (GABA), helps the body prepare for rest and regeneration, assisting the body's natural detoxification processes.

HOW TO USE

Next Detox comes in a convenient 750 ml glass bottle, which protects the nutritional integrity of the product. Next Detox is delicious, and it's easy to drink every day. For best results, drink one or more ounces daily.

Next Detox is delicious on its own, but it can also be mixed with other liquids or blended into a smoothie.

Store Next Detox in a cool, dry place before opening. Refrigerate after opening to maximize Next Detox's nutritional potency.

FAQs

Q: What does Next Detox do for my gut health?

A: Next Detox promotes a healthy, balanced gut microbiome by helping your body get rid of nasty toxins that cause great harm to the overall health of the gut. Harmful bacteria in the gut can form free radicals—molecules that neutralize the effects of good bacteria. Antioxidants, which are found in abundance in Next Detox, are known to combat the activity of free radicals, freeing your body and gut of oxidative stress.

Q: What is Red-light Fermentation?

A: Red-light fermentation is a unique and proprietary fermentation process exclusive to LoveBiome. Featured heavily in both Next beverages, Red-light Fermentation increases the efficacy, bioavailability, and nutritional potency of ingredients like noni. Studies have shown, for example, that red-light fermentation increases noni's polyphenol count by at least 25%. In other words, red-light fermentation takes a good thing like noni and makes it GREAT.

Q: Is Red-light Fermentation technology used by any other noni company? Or can it be found in any other noni product?

A: No. Red-light Fermentation is a patented process, and it is owned exclusively by LoveBiome.

Q: Is Next Detox a noni juice?

A: Red-light-fermented noni is featured prominently in both Next beverages, and it is an immensely important ingredient for gut health. But calling either Next Balance or Next Detox a “noni” product would be incomplete. Next Detox is a globally sourced product with a wide array of superfoods and superfruits, of which noni is a part. These amazing foods were all brought together to create one superior gut-health supplement.

Q: What is the difference between Next Balance and Next Detox?

A: While both Next beverages share a few key ingredients (such as Red-light-fermented noni), each Next beverage has its own unique formula and was designed for its own unique purpose. Next Balance was specifically formulated to balance and diversify the gut microbiome, while Next Detox was made to assist the body's natural detoxification process to rid the gut microbiome of harmful substances.

Q: Should I drink Next Detox at night?

A: Next Detox has a special and unique relaxation blend, but that doesn't mean it is a sleep aid or that it should be taken at night. Drink Next Detox at any time of the day to help your body rid itself of harmful toxins and free radicals.

Q: When/how should I take the Daily 3 System?

A: You can combine the Daily 3 products together in one drink or consume them separately, whatever your preference is. You can also take them at any time of the day.

Q: Why do I need to take all three products?

A: Each of these unique products combine to form the Daily 3 System, a synergistic daily regimen that optimizes your gut health. For more detailed information on each of these products, please visit lovebiome.com/products.

Q: I currently take a probiotic supplement. Will the LoveBiome products interfere with my current probiotic regimen?

A: The Daily 3 System can certainly be taken in conjunction with any probiotic regimen you may currently be taking. The Daily 3 System provides prebiotic, probiotic, and postbiotics which will not interfere with any other dietary supplements.
